

Are you a dog person or a cat person?

Tom and Amy were best friends who lived next door to each other. They loved to play together, but they had one big difference: Tom was a cat person and Amy was a dog person.

Amy had a golden retriever named Sunny who liked to run in the park and pick up sticks. Amy thought dogs were friendlier and more loyal than cats.

Tom had a black cat named Shadow who liked to nap on his bed and chase mice. Tom thought cats were smarter and cleaner than dogs.

One day, they decided to have a contest to see who had the better pet. They agreed to swap their pets for a week and see how they liked them. Tom took Sunny to his house and Amy took Shadow to hers.

At first, Tom enjoyed playing with Sunny. He liked how Sunny wagged his tail and licked his face. But soon, he realized that Sunny was too energetic and noisy for him. Sunny barked at everything and knocked over Tom's toys. Sunny also drooled on Tom's pillow and chewed on his shoes. Tom missed Shadow's quiet company.

At first, Amy enjoyed cuddling Shadow. She liked how Shadow purred and rubbed against her leg. But soon, she realized that Shadow was too independent for her. Shadow ignored Amy and hid under the sofa. Shadow also scratched Amy's leg and knocked over her vase of flowers. Amy missed Sunny's playful nature.

After a week, Tom and Amy _____ . What happened? Can you tell the end of the story?
